This page lists all the articles in the Forum Nokia Wiki that include the category 'S60 5th Edition'.

A new touchscreen together with tactile feedback, sensor framework, and support for nHD (640x360px) screens takes user experience of S60 devices in new level. These features enable developers to provide users with innovative ways of interacting with applications, and a way for richer and more engaging content. Also Web and Flash Lite developers are now able to fully participate in the creation of mobile-aware applications and services, since S60 5th Edition gives them access to native device data and information such as location.
