

HourPower

HourPower from Andreas Jakl is a gratuitous utility that, simply, says the hour to us.

The program uses the motor of vocal synthesis introduced in the latest Symbian S60, to say of alive voice what the hour is to the mobile phone user. According to the author this is useful for when we are in the bed in the morning and we want to know if it is hour to get up and rise and get out of bed. At the moment it supports the languages English, French and German,