

Location

Access to the phone's current location

This capability allows the software to determine the location of the phone. It can be determined via internal or external GPS, via network operator or other installed module.

Note! To use external Bluetooth GPS devices directly without the Location AP you don't need this capability. Use LocalServices instead.

This capability can be only used with developer certificates and Symbian Signed tested applications.