

Mixin-class

A "mixin" (or M-Class) in Symbian OS is an abstract base class with the sole purpose of defining an interface between objects. A typical example would be to provide an interface to an active object class that provides asynchronous services.

See also

---

Example of an active object with an observer interface