

NetworkServices

Grants access to remote services (such as dialing a number or sending a text message, WLAN, GPRS), which might incur a cost for the mobile device user.

This capability allows access to any network service not regarding the transport medium. You can e.g. make voice calls and connect via IP network.

This capability can be used with self-signed applications.