

Nokia_x86_compiler

The Nokia x86 compiler is a Windows-based compiler used to compile Symbian OS code for the emulator. See GCC, GCCE or RVCT for compilation for the target.

The Nokia x86 compiler was originally developed by Metrowerks. It was acquired by Nokia in 2004. Nokia x86 compiler is distributed together with CodeWarrior or Carbide.c++.

Internal links

- GCC
- GCCE
- Microsoft C++ compiler
- RVCT